Mark Volcheff is a Stellar Advisor with expertise in government and corporate strategic planning, developing market assessments, designing market-entry strategies, conducting due diligence, and generating business development within government and commercial homeland security and commercial aviation sectors. These competencies include commercial charter aviation, aerial firefighting, air ambulance services, sensors, secure communications, weapon system simulators, RFID technologies, infrastructure protection, cyber security, and emerging technology applications.

As a retired U.S. Air Force major general, Mark has over 32 years of military experience in aviation, training, acquisition, human resources programs, and homeland security. He once served as the DoD President for the Commercial Airlift Review Board, served as the U.S. member of the Permanent Joint Board on Defense (US-Canada), was the lead author of the NORAD Agreement, was a co-author of Colorado's Homeland Security Strategic Plan, and served as the Director of the National Security Innovation Competition.

Since his military retirement, Mark's professional affiliations include: Chairman, Colorado Springs Military Affairs Council; Board of Advisors, Omni Air International; Board of Advisors, ConcealFab Corporation; Board of Advisors, KeepTree.com; Trustee, Air Force Academy Falcon Foundation; Board of Advisors, National Homeland Defense Foundation; and Board of Advisors, Center for Homeland Security, University of Colorado at Colorado Springs.

Mark specializes in strategic planning, business development, business market assessments, DOD and DHS liaison, commercial aviation, aerial firefighting and homeland security/homeland defense issues. His deep expertise makes him a foundational source to Stellar Solutions clients as they strive to meet critical needs.
